What is Next on the Agenda...

October 4th, 2014. Participate on the IDEA SUMMIT at North Park Theater.

Weigh in on the Scenario Feedback Form

To outline a vision for the future of development in Buffalo Niagara, citizens at the Scenario Planning Open Houses set some “big picture” targets for the future of development in Buffalo Niagara. They also gave more pointed feedback on the moves they would want to see made in the region in order to meet the targets they set.

If you have not weighed in yet, do so by September 12th.

Review and Provide comments on the Draft Report

This Draft Report represents the first major public report summarizing the findings and recommendations of the One Region Forward planning and community learning process. Started in 2012, this work has woven together more than two years of research, community engagement, partnership building and planning. The draft outlines five big ideas and dozens of potential strategies and actions to move those ideas forward. A Draft Report on the work so far and the work ahead to move five big ideas forward.

Review the Draft Report and the Executive Summary, and email your comments to feedback@oneregionforward.org by September 12th.

Review and Provide comments on the FHEA

A team of equity stakeholders has been working with One Region Forward to complete a draft of the FHEA for public review. This document examines the roots of Buffalo-Niagara’s racial, ethnic and geographic segregation and exclusion, obstacles to solving these issues, and strategies for overcoming these barriers through One Region Forward’s regional planning process.

Email your comments to feedback@oneregionforward.org by September 24th.
